ALL THINGS NEW BRUNSWICK!

Did you know that New Brunswick has the largest ocean tidal whirlpool in the western hemisphere? It is located off the coast of Deer Island, and is named the "Old Sow". why is it called that, you ask? It stems from the word "sough" (pronounced 'suff'), which means a type of drain or sucking sound! It's formed when the rising tide passes both sides of Indian Island and forms a huge circular current. Strange, but amazing!

ATTENTION ADVISORS!

Don't forget to attend your morning meeting!
IMPORTANT: you are in charge of your students while in Saint John!!

ALL THINGS FOODSTUFF!

Today we are talking about Ganong Chocolates. Perhaps you have heard of them? Founded WAY back in 1873, Ganong is Canada's oldest (independently-owned) candy company. Although strangely named, their "Chicken Bones" candy is VERY popular!
