

2024 NCF-ENVIROTHON NEW YORK

Envirothon Ambassadors Award

Awarded to students who demonstrate exceptional dedication to Envirothon, teamwork, commitment to environmental stewardship and sustainability, and other remarkable qualities at the 2024 NCF-Envirothon Annual Competition.

Bryant Ruan (Ontario)

Bryant showed great dedication to his team and to the Envirothon itself throughout the competition. He traveled alone to the venue, consistently put the team first, persisted through an illness, and made a strong effort to keep his team cohesive. In this way, he truly has demonstrated the spirit of the Envirothon Program and is thus named an Envirothon Ambassador.

Alison Heimsness (Alabama)

Alison has gone above and beyond supporting and educating others about the importance of Envirothon in teaching the next generation about the necessity of environmental protection. As a direct result of the program, she will be majoring in Environmental Biology. For her dedication to environmental protection and education, she is named an Envirothon Ambassador.

Anna Bowen (West Virginia)

Throughout the Envirothon Program, Anna has embraced the spirit of learning while also demonstrating her depth of knowledge. Her dedication to the team and to building everyone's understanding of forestry and aquatics has helped to guide all members to their goal of Envirothon participation. For this dedication to learning, Anna is named an Envirothon Ambassador.

Malorie Robison (Alabama)

Malorie has been dedicated to helping her community embrace environmental stewardship since she was a freshman. She has been a leader in her conservation society, has volunteered with multiple community science initiatives, and has served as a leader for younger children. For her effort and sacrifice, Malorie is named an Envirothon Ambassador.

Renewable Energy for a Sustainable Future

Winners were chosen from a pool of more than 25 nominations put forward by advisors, guests, and the students' peers, and will be acknowledged by the 2024 New York Host Committee.

