CULTURAL CONNECTIONS: DID YOU KNOW?

The outfit Jerrhan was wearing (at the opening ceremony) is called REGALIA. It is sacred, and only he wears it. When a dancer is in the arena or on stage, if a feather falls off, only someone who is blessed to do so may pick it up for the dance.

ATTENTION ADVISORS:

PLEASE make sure that your team does not bring any electronics or cameras to team orientation and sequestration. Additionally, please remind your students that snacks will be provided for sequestration! They will be well fed!

ALL ABOUT ALBERTA

Alberta's official stone is petrified wood. It's commonly found in gravel pits and is made of fallen trees from the Cretaceous and Paleocene eras – 60 to 90 million years ago!

SHARE YOUR PHOTOS

Hey students! Post your pictures or videos on social media using the hashtag #2025ncfenvirothon and your team's name while holding/sporting some sweet 2025 NCF-Envirothon swag for a chance to win!

YESTERDAY'S HIGHLIGHTS

What an unbelievable fun day! Students, advisors, volunteers, CAT members and the Operating Committee all traveled to Banff National Park to ride the gondola & chairlift up to Sunshine Meadows, where they took in the spectacular views and serenity of the area. After some free time in the Town of Banff, everyone gathered at Mount View BBQ for games, a fantastic supper, and dancing/entertainment. Thanks to the host committee for organizing such a wonderful day!

RANCHING IN ALBERTA

Ranching in Alberta has a long and storied past, with early operations dating back to the 1870s & 1880s, including long-standing and notable ranches like Oxley, Bar U, and Cochrane.

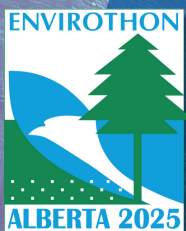

LIVESTREAMING ON FRIDAY!

Please spread the word to your loved ones that we are live streaming the top 3 oral presentations AND the closing ceremonies!
